The farmer, unlike the consumer goes to seed in the spring.

Soon again the housefly will engage attention as an enemy to mankind.

Missouri has the corncob pipe rec ord. This, however, is not regarded as a sporting event.

And the industrious cow has taken her place in the hall of fame beside the industrious hen.

According to an English professor, the human race is 170,000 years old. It bash't much sense for its age.

Now Wellesley proposes to raise cats for laboratory purposes, why not utilize them for the glee club, also?

The witchcraft of 200 years ago is now called malignant animal magnetism, and it is the same old article.

Twenty-five million persons smoked

Missouri corncob pipes last year, and half of them borrowed the tobacco. Along with taxing bachelors why not give away a marriage license de luxe and a first payment on a parlor

At the same time we are forced to admire the bravery of those young women who walk abroad in harem ekirts. "Love is love," opines an expert on heartology, name unknown, Likewise pigs is pigs and prunes is prunes.

We see by the papers that France is facing a crisis. It strikes us that facing crisis is a chronic disease in

We are told that Russia has hurled another ultimatum at China. If the czar keeps on he won't have any ultimatums left.

Wagner in English is promised for next season. We can't understand why. The words are always unintelligible, anyhow.

Three New Jersey "sportsmen" who went out for fox hunting are on trial for killing deer. Possibly New Jersey rabbits wear horns.

The Los Angeles man who was sent to jail for 30 days for smiling at a strange woman evidently does not see the point of the joke. Automobiles to the number, of 460, 000 are flitting here and there in this country, but all their flitting does oot reduce the cost of mules.

The average life of a statesman is said to be 71 years. This doesn't necessarily conflict with the old the ory that the good die young.

Those Chicago crooks who stole a 600 pound safe in the dead of night evidently missed their calling. They should have been piano movers.

An Illinois husband has offered reward of $25 for the return of his missing wife. "That's all she is worth," he says. That is love.

A Chicago professor says that lack of money is the bane of wedlock. In the matter of feeling this lack as a bane, wedlock has plenty of company.

Nearly 2,000,000 brook trout fry are ready for planting in Wisconsin's streams. They will probably develop into 2,000,000 fish stories later in the Australians have perfected the milking machine so that it milks a hundred cows in two hours. But the milkmaid will continue to live in poetry. The Boston young woman who worked eight years on her trousseau must have had unusual, though not well founded, faith in the stability of the styles. A Montreal doctor recently contributed a pint of his own blood to save the life of a patient. Some doctors seem to be actuated by a sincere desire to cure. The autocrats of fashion may suc need in making women wear the ugly Turkish "harem" dress, but no auto crat now living will ever succeed in shutting women up.

"I know not where I am," cried a poetess in one of the magazines. English critics of American literature will: wonder why she did not say: "I know not where I am at."

An English paper announces that Americans lack the sense of humor. This sounds like the argument of the man who satisfies himself by exclaiming: "You're another."

A Canadian highbrow tells us that the temperature seven and a half miles above the earth is 90 degrees below zero. Let this be a warning to builders of skyscrapers.

The hobble skirt is said to be reenousible for the large increase of trolley car accidents, but it will take re than a trolley car to ram the hobble skirt out of existance.

The son of the richest woman in the world has been receiving 200 proposals a month since it was publis that he was inclined to wed. In this case, it is surmised on purely circumstantial, but conclusive, evidence that the acquisition of a mother-in-law is the prime object of these susceptible

Of course, that meant no visit that day, so I started out looking for a certain household article I had long wanted and intended as a surprise to my husband. As I hurried along through unaccustomed streets and passed a lot of excavating and building, I thought: Suppose a brick or something fell off that house and knocked me senseless, what would my husband think? However, nothing of that kind happened, but I ran across an old friend, a man, who promptly invited me to lunch. As I had told the maid I'd be out all day, I accepted, and in the restaurant whom should I meet but my husband's partner, and on our way home, when my friend blew me to a taxi, my husband's sister.

CAN'T LEAVE THE OLD FOLKS

Kansas Girl's Reason for Refusal to Wed Is the Occasion for Some Serious Thought.

A bride about-to-be in a Kanass town the other day suddenly refused to be wed. She gave her reason in a nutshell: "I can't leave the old folks." She echoed the tragic plaint of a familiar song.

It gives occasion for profound reflection; as, at first thought, this: how shall the line be drawn between filial love and duty and the urge of the supreme conqueror of lives-the God of Love? In all oriental countries this problem could not exist: the wildest of passionate love must yield before the ingrained obligation to a parental authority and due. In our own land the parents-not the child-raise the petitioning hand. That is what makes the Kansas girl's act remarkable.

When is a child justified in desert ing her father and mother? For how long should she bide a wee? There is so much to be considered coldly, although it is difficult. These old par ents, by the and-irons gave her life, nurtured her; gladly bestowed upon her the very essence of their love. Her growth was their daily scrutiny and sly remark; her development to womanhood, their wonder and pride. And then, as a singing, precious bird, she escaped from their cage. Thus it was for them, and is and shall continue to be for countless heart-broken parents.-Philadelphia Press.

DISHPANS MAY BE MUSICAL

Man Who Sleeps Mornings Thinks They Should Be' Keyed to a Diatonic Scale.

"For a lorg time," said the man who sleeps ornings, "I have been hoping that see one would arise and invent dish pans in E flat and kettles in G major. The family above me ap parently always washes its dinner dishes the morning after.

"Yet I do not know that the bang of a dish pan is as bad as the Mozartian melodles dispensed by the occasional hand organ. I have about come to the conclusion, however, that two generations hence mankind will be able to relish any metalite noise as music. There is Richard Strauss, you know, and Claude Debussy. We have got wonderfully used to sheer caco-phony and some of us maintain, with what truth I do not know, that we

"If I thought that in 20 or 30 years we would be able to enjoy the dish pan and kettle motifs I would never again complain. But I think that since we are making such strides in the direction of enjoying harsh sounds the inventors might meet us half way by inventing sets of houseware keyed to diatonic scale."

SUSPECT TELLS OF DYNAMITE PLOTS

CONFESSION, ACCORDING TO PO-LICE, SOLVES LOS ANGELES TIMES OUTRAGE.

UNION HEAD IS INVOLVED

Brother of Iron Workers' Secretary Details Remarkable History of Efforts to Obtain Labor Concessions.

Indianapolis, Ind .- After months of are in Indianapolis, was arrested here. tober 1, 1910, and the plant of the Llewellyn foundry at Los Angeles.

Four hours after McNamara was arnitroglycerin and 17 sticks of dynamite in a barn three-quarters of a mile west of Indianapolls. The barn, the detectives say, was rented by Mcmara from T. H. Jones.

Tells of Crime in Detail.

Chicago, Ill.-In ninety closely type-E written pages, according to detectives, Ortic McManigal, one of the men arrested for alleged implication in the blowing up of the office of the Los Angeles Times in Los Angeles, has recited in detail how 112 lives were sacrificed and $3,500,000 worth of property was destroyed in a long fight of organized labor against the principle of the open shop.

McManigal was arrested with John McNamara of Indianapolis, secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The story was told by McManigal as he sat in a bedroom in the home of City Detective William H. Reed, in South Chicago, on the night of April 13. He started talking at midnight, and it was breakfast when he finished. Seated in the bedroom were William J. Burns, head of the detective agency; Detective Reed, several operatives from the Burns agency and an official stenographer of the police department. In an adjoining room "Jim" McNamara was sleeping, not knowning that his friend was telling the story.

Swears to the Confession.

When he had finished McManigal lifted his right hand, say the detectives, and swore he had told the truth. "Well, it's all off now, I guess," he drawled, as he signed his name to the document. "Don't tell Jim I coughed up, though; he would be awfully sore. You had me, though, so all I could do was to tell."

This document was in a wallet car-French farce, and you may be sure I | ried on the person of Assistant Diswas glad I had a sensible, unexcitable trict Attorney Ford of Los Angeles fish hatchery and cultural station in husband. Never again, though, will I when Captain of Detectives Wood announce what I intend to do. I'll do turned over McManigal and McNamara to the California officers.

Two More Implicated. McManigal's recital concerned two alleged dynamiters not hitherto mentioned-M. A. Schmidt, a leading member of the Woodworkers' union of Chicago, and Dave Kaplan, who is said to be serving a jail sentence in Oklahoma. Schmidt is being sought in Ohio. The arrest of Schmidt and Kaplan, Detective Burns says, will clean up the gang of dynamiters. He, with Captain Wood, who has been in close touch with the case for the last three months, declares they have convicting proof against Jim Me-Namara and the other men. John J. McNamara, they say, furnished the funds for the wrecking crew.

> Representative Hamlin introduced a measure to prevent the post office department from requiring rural carriers to wear uniforms. The bill also would give the carriers, together with other postal employes, the right to petition, or otherwise communicate with, members of congress or other government officials the same as if they were not in the employ of Uncle Sam. An investigation of the civil service system has been ordered by the house committee on reform in the civil service. It is the purpose of the committee to investigate particularly the question of the rights of civil service employes to organize unions and to inquire into charges that the service has degenerated into an institution of favoritism.

Advocates of the election of senators by direct vote of the people won a signal victory in the senate when the resolution passed by the house was referred to the committee on judiciary.
